Language Learning Students are continuing with the Tower of Books. It has been nice to see that the students are on a mission when they come to the Learning Commons (library). Please remember to continue to read aloud with your child and ask them what they are reading was about. Students may need background information from you when reading historical fiction books (like WW1 books) and need help with the vocabulary. In writing we are continuing with story writing.

Math The students are still working on multiplication. I will be starting to give them weekly tests on their ability to recall their multiplication facts (see calendar). The students have math game links in their email from me, Splash Math, Prodigy and YouTube links to help them recall multiplication facts easier.

Science Students are still working on Light and Shadows.
